Are your contact details correct in the Emission Unit Register?

The Emissions Trading Scheme (ETS) team is implementing a new register in 2016. Your contact details are key to you being able to access the new system. Please ensure that the following three important contact details are correct:

- Your email address: this will be used to provide you with important messages such as how to access your account in the new system
- Your telephone number: this is important if we need to contact you during the implementation
- Your mobile phone number: this may be used to text you a code if you need to approve transactions

What can you do to ensure your details are correct?

To check whether your details are correct, log in to the NZEUR and view your details in the 'My Profile' option. If necessary, you can update your details in one of the following ways:

- Send us an email with your new details and we will update them for you
- Call us and we will perform an ID check and update your contact details

You can find our contact details at the bottom of this newsletter.

Are the representatives on your account still current?

When we implement the new register, we will send login details to everyone who currently has access to your account. This could include previous employees or consultants if you have not removed them from your account.

This means that now is a good time to update your representatives' details. You can check who is on your account by searching for the account number or name here. If you need to make any changes, call us on one of the numbers below and we will help you to update your accounts.

Apply now for an allocation of NZUs

It's time to submit your application for the next round of industrial allocations of New Zealand Units (NZUs, also known as carbon credits).

You can access the online application form here.

Your application must be with us by Saturday 30th of April 2016. Late applications cannot be accepted.

If you need help with your online application, please call 0800 CLIMATE (0800 254 628) or email us at etsallocations@epa.govt.nz.

Note: The redevelopment of the NZEUR will not impact on this activity as the new system will not be introduced during this time.

Do you have to apply?

If you received a provisional allocation of NZUs last year, you are legally obliged to make an application by 30 April 2016. If you have not previously applied for an allocation, or if you received a final allocation last year, applying is optional.

What type of application should you make?

There are several types of application you can make; your choice depends on what you did last year, and what you'd like to do in the future.

For information on which application is best for your organisation, see the New Zealand Climate Change website here or follow the flow diagram in our FAQs.

You can also email questions about application types to etsallocations@epa.govt.nz.

Consultation for the ETS Review

Time is running out to have your say in the New Zealand Emissions Trading Scheme (NZ ETS) Review.

Submissions are still being sought on questions asked in the review discussion document relating to a number of longer term and design issues. Submissions are also still being sought on the forestry technical note and the operational matters technical note.

Submissions on all matters above close at 5.00pm on 30 April 2016.

If you submitted during the priority matters consultation relating to the one-for-two surrender obligation, you can still submit on any other matter still under review.

For more information and to make a submission, visit www.mfe.govt.nz/consultation/new-zealand-ets-review-201516-consultation, email NZETSReview@mfe.govt.nz or call Charlotte Berg on 04 439 7462.

You may shortly receive an invitation from the EPA to participate in a survey seeking your views about the interactions you have had with us in the last 12 months. Your feedback will help us to evaluate the way we engage with you, and the quality of information and services provided to you, as well as identifying areas for improvement.

Participation in this survey is completely voluntary and strictly confidential. Survey results will be reported back to us as summary statistics and anonymous comments only. The summarised statistics will be included in our 2016 Annual Report. We look forward to your involvement and thank you for participating in this research.
